

Rising Seventh Graders: 2011 Summer Homework

Review your Spanish frequently so you don't forget it. Save the "El Vocabulario" and "La Estructura" sections of your binders and use them to review. Go over your vocabulary and grammar often during the summer. A set of flashcards in the car is a great way to review! Remember, use it or lose it!

You must also do the attached summer homework in the month it is assigned. Each month is considered a night of homework which I will check during the first week of school. We will have a review test next September in the third week of class, so be prepared.

You will do your homework online this summer, using the companion website of our textbook, Realidades. You will fill out a chart showing when you did the work and how well you did, and you will have a parent sign and date the chart. If you do poorly on any assignment (fewer than seven out of ten or approximately 70 percent correct), read over your notes (vocabulary or grammar) for that section. Then do it again and register your second score on the chart.

Most chapters also have rap songs to help you remember some of the material in the chapter. Listening to them can also help you remember what we have learned.

If you have trouble accessing the web page, please contact me at cschmidt@stmschool.net. I will either help you troubleshoot or send you a set of worksheets that you can do in place of the online work.

You can access the textbook via my pbworks page. Go to sracorinna.pbworks.com, then click on El Libro de Español: Actividades para Practicar.
